The information in this brochure is specific to The University of Southern Mississippi and is slightly different from a local municipality/city, but this can be helpful if taken as guiding behaviors for police officers, as well as citizens, when they come in contact with each other. The set of presenting circumstances will impact situations and scenarios in different ways. Various situations will impact how the police will act, as well as what tactics they will use. The important thing for consideration for police officers and the general public is to present a workable attitude and tolerance for each other. At all times, remember that the police officers are sworn to uphold the law and serve the public. Remember, ATTITUDE, TOLERANCE and RESPECT are the essentials for best outcomes.

REGARDING POLICE PROCEDURES

 THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI
UNIVERSITY POLICE DEPARTMENT

The mission of The University Police Department is to enhance the quality of life on campus by working cooperatively within the framework of the United States Constitution to enforce the laws, preserve the peace, reduce fear, and provide for a safe environment for students, faculty, staff, visitors and all other stakeholders that visit our University.

The purpose of this brochure is to inform all persons of expectations regarding traffic stops and filing of reports of complaints. Our police department is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies and functions to serve all people within the jurisdiction of the University with respect, fairness and compassion.

If you are pulled over, the police will do the following:

ASK for your identification. You know who you are, but the police officer may not.

USE a flashlight to illuminate the interior of the vehicle as a safety precaution. As the officer approaches your car, he or she is not sneaking up on you. The officer is following his or her police training to minimize his or her exposure to traffic and to unknown danger from inside the vehicle.

BACK UP each other or support another officer's calls; therefore, several officers may appear on the scene. Do not feel threatened or intimidated by this police operation. Service and protection are our primary goals. The officer's supervisor may arrive on the scene to observe his or her actions.

REMAIN in the car for a period of time while checking your automobile registration and driving status. This may take a while to complete the procedure of the department.

MAINTAIN a professional demeanor and may not be as talkative or friendly as you expect. The officer is not being mean or disrespectful to you. Know that the officer may be dealing with other pressing matters or assignments and that you are not being mistreated.

ASK observers who gather around to move back or disperse. These are tactics and strategies to ensure safety and are precautionary measures; the officer is following standard procedures. The officer is not attempting to hide, cover up or violate citizens' and students' rights. He or she is simply trying to maintain control and prevent further problems. Remember that interfering with the police in this situation is a crime. Observers should be a part of the solution and not the problem.

The officer has a reason for stopping you. He or she may have reason to suspect that you are in violation of the law, a Student Code of Conduct violation, the Creed at Southern Miss, or may be aware of a crime or an emergency in a nearby area. Traffic and equipment violations are the most frequent reasons for stopping vehicles, as well as vehicle matches in crime investigations.

The officer is required to follow police and safety procedures during vehicle stops. The officer's focus is on the protection of the motorist and his or her safety since officers are sometimes injured or killed in the line of duty.

If you are issued a ticket, are detained or arrested, and you disagree or have objections, questions or protests, DON'T ARGUE AT THE SCENE. You will have the right to state your objections in court or through the campus appeal process.
